On behalf of Cuyahoga Valley Church...

...please accept our deepest sympathy on the loss of your loved one. We understand that this will be a difficult time for you and your family. Know that God understands even more, as Jesus Himself experienced sorrow and grief.

First and foremost, we will pray for you. And should you desire, our staff will come alongside you in the funeral planning and process here at CVC.

Our hope is that you will find this small booklet of great assistance to you in planning a service that will honor God and the memory of your loved one.

In Christ,

Pastors Chad Allen and Rick Duncan
and the Elders and Staff of CVC

Immediately after the death of a loved one...

...you may find yourself overwhelmed with the tasks. Grief makes it difficult to focus on priorities and take action. Here is a simple checklist for survivors to help you prioritize and keep track of what needs to be done immediately following your loved one's death.

At the time of death, make the right call.

For deaths that occur at home, it's important to know whom to call. If your loved one is a hospice patient, call the hospice agency to report the death. A hospice nurse will come to the home and pronounce the death. The nurse may also call a mortuary for you and arrange for pick up of the body.

If your loved one was not a hospice patient, then you must call Emergency Services to notify the local police or sheriff of the death. A coroner or medical examiner may be required at the scene if the death was sudden.

Contact the funeral home.

Whether a hospice nurse makes the call or you call yourself, a funeral home must be contacted to arrange for pick-up of the deceased's body. If funeral arrangements have already been made, all you will need to do is confirm the arrangements with the Funeral Director. If no funeral arrangements have been made in advance, you will need to begin planning the funeral.

Review any prior funeral plans and/or continue making them.

You may want to call on relatives or close friends to assist in making the arrangements.

Contact the deceased's attorney, accountant, and executor of estate.

Contact employer (if any).

Notify the employer and ask about any outstanding compensation due. Find out whether dependents (if any) are eligible for benefits and whether there is life insurance through the employer.

What do I do now?

Oftentimes, this is the question foremost in our minds when faced with the death of a loved one and making arrangements for a funeral service.

Below are steps to take with regard to Cuyahoga Valley Church:

1. Initially, of course, choose a reputable funeral home. You may already be aware of which one you will contact; but if not, friends and family members are great resources for a recommendation.
2. For a funeral service at Cuyahoga Valley Church, your initial call should be to our Care Ministry, in particular, Greta Smith. She may be reached at 440.972.2267. Greta will be privileged to guide your initial planning steps and work to connect you with the assistant to the appropriate officiating pastor.
3. Once a pastor been confirmed to officiate the funeral, his designated assistant will contact you about setting up the initial appointment for a time that the pastor can meet with you face-to-face to listen, and then talk about a service that will honor God and your loved one.
4. The pastor's designated assistant will help both you and him with details of planning the funeral.
5. This booklet will outline for you how to prepare for meeting the pastor, frequently asked questions, as well as steps you may want to think about after the funeral – practically, emotionally, and spiritually.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) at CVC

I am not a member of CVC and neither was the person who has passed.

Will CVC officiate a funeral?

You and your loved one who has passed would not have to be a member of CVC; but our hope would be that regular attendance at our services does happen. If that's not the case, you may want to get more information on CVC's vision and mission before pursuing a funeral service.

May I choose whichever pastor I feel most comfortable with to conduct the funeral service?

You may request a particular pastor. They then have the option to determine whether or not their schedule conflicts with your upcoming service. If the pastor of choice is unavailable, CVC's Care Ministry will assist in checking the availability of another pastor.

Would the pastor come to another church / site to conduct the funeral?

Each pastor has the freedom to answer this question on his own. Normally, this is not a problem.

Will the Gospel (salvation message) be shared at the service?

Yes.

May we have a post-service luncheon at the church?

Families are encouraged to look for a site other than CVC to hold a luncheon. Should circumstances deem use of the church facility, options may be worked through. This is done on a case-to-case basis.

Are there fees involved with a funeral service at CVC?

There are suggested honorariums to help compensate CVC staff and volunteers for over-and-above time needed to prepare for the service to honor your loved one. Please see page 13. There is no honorarium charge for use of CVC's facilities for the service of your loved one.

Initial Information

At CVC, our desire is to glorify God and honor the memory of a lost loved one; but only those closest to that person really know how best to do that. So prior to meeting with the officiating pastor, please take the time to go over the next few pages of questions that will help shape your thoughts about the service. Then, be sure bring this information with you to your meeting.

What To Do After The Funeral

Below is a listing taken from www.voranfuneralhome.com.

1. Prepare a list of persons to receive acknowledgments of flowers, memorial contributions, etc. Send appropriate acknowledgments (can be written note, printed acknowledgments, or some of each). Include "thank you" to those who have given their time as well.
2. Check promptly on all debts and installment payments, including credit cards. Some may carry insurance clauses that will cancel them. If there is to be a delay in meeting payments, consult with creditors and ask for more time before payments are due.
3. If deceased was living alone, notify utilities and landlord. Notify the post office and direct them where to send the mail.
4. The funeral director will prepare Social Security Form SSA 721. Verify with Social Security to see that the number is retired and to determine eligibility for benefits. Benefits are not automatic, they must be applied for. Birth, marriage and death certificates are required. If Social Security Checks are automatic deposit, notify bank of death.
5. Obtain a copy of the deceased's will or trust. Select a lawyer if legal advice is needed. You may need to notify the executor of the will or administrator of the trust.
6. Notify all life, health and casualty insurance companies in order that you may:
 - Claim benefits due under policies on the deceased
 - Make any beneficiary changes on policies where the deceased was named the beneficiary
 - Determine if the deceased was owner of any policies of dependents or business associates, as cash value of such policies must be included in the deceased's estate

NOTE: You should check all policies, even if you think they may have lapsed. If you do not have a copy of the policy, the insurance company will have complete records. Sometimes insurance policies are old and may have changed to a different company. You may call this information hotline to assist you with your questions: 1-800-777-8005.

7. Check with deceased's present and past employer(s) for possible insurance and other benefits.
8. Contact business or service organizations of which the deceased was a member for possible benefits.
9. Contact the nearest Veteran's Administration office if the deceased was a veteran. They will require full name of the deceased, branch of service and service serial number.
10. Contact Civil Service Commission if the deceased was employed in the Civil Service for more than 18 months.
11. Contact the Internal Revenue Service office to determine tax-filing requirements.

Comforting Thoughts from God's Word

He will swallow up death forever; and the Lord GOD will wipe away tears from all faces, and the reproach of his people he will take away from all the earth, for the LORD has spoken.

Isaiah 25:8 (English Standard Version, ESV)

I have said these things to you, that in me you may have peace. In the world you will have tribulation. But take heart; I have overcome the world.

John 16:33 (ESV)

Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you. Not as the world gives do I give to you. Let not your hearts be troubled, neither let them be afraid.

John 14:27 (ESV)

³And I heard a loud voice from the throne saying, "Behold, the dwelling place of God is with man. He will dwell with them, and they will be his people, and God himself will be with them as their God. ⁴He will wipe away every tear from their eyes, and death shall be no more, neither shall there be mourning, nor crying, nor pain anymore, for the former things have passed away."

Revelation 21:3-4 (ESV)
