GOD IS FOR ME: Week 6 10.20.13

1. In the message this week, we talked a lot about “kingdom.” Take some time in your group to look at what the Bible has to say about the Kingdom. What does it mean to live in the kingdom?
2. What are some of the areas where you have seen God keep his promises, accomplish his purposes, and defeat enemies in your life?
3. If you are in a Co-Ed group, split up for 20-30 minutes and talk openly about the areas of life where you are not submitting your crown to Christ. How can the men or women in your group come alongside you and encourage you to trust the King with these things.
4. Andreas Osiander once said that, “What seems most hurtful to us, must often be most helpful to us.” Talk about how you may have seen this in your own life. Where has God allowed difficulty in your life for his glory?
5. Spend time as a group (if you have time) or at home this week looking up places in the Bible where God kept his promises or accomplished his purposes through difficult circumstances. We often forget and we need to be reminded of these great stories of God’s greatness.
6. Is God calling you to do something risky? Talk with your group about it and ask them to pray for God to reveal his will.
7. Rick Duncan once sent out a sheet to the men on staff that outlined all of the ways that sexual sin would affect his ministry. The list was quite long. It is a great reminder of the consequences of choosing to be the King of our own domain. What are some of the potential consequences if you choose not to submit your little crown to the King?
